Our Policy on Conflict Diamonds

Diamonds are meant to be a gift of love, and we at _____ abhor the way in which some gems have been used to fund conflict.

To stop this practice, governments our industry and human rights groups created the Kimberley Process in 2002, which today ensures that over 99% of all rough diamonds come from sources free from conflict.

We require all our suppliers to provide an official written warranty that their diamonds come from Kimberley-certified sources and thus are not involved in funding conflict. The Warranty Statement reads:

The diamonds herein invoiced have been purchased from legitimate sources not involved in funding conflict and in compliance with United Nations Resolutions. The seller hereby guarantees that these diamonds are conflict free, based on personal knowledge and/or written guarantees provided by the supplier of these diamonds.

*use this statement once you have ensured your suppliers have provided the System of Warranty statement on all invoices. For a sample letter to send to suppliers, visit www.diamondfacts.org.
